America's Masters—Volume 11: “Down Home Gospel Classics”

The selections on this disc of “Down Home” African American Gospel music are not by trendy, popular massed choirs. Instead they offer you a rare glimpse at a variety of very personal, religious, deeply felt music, consisting of “snap-shots” recorded mostly in the rural South over the past 40 years. The performances range from a cappella small group, quartet singing, guitar solos, solo voices accompanied by guitar and three harmonicas with voice, to amplified lap steel guitarists serving and accompanying congregations during the Holiness dance. We offer you this budget priced “sampler” with the hope that you might find some of the artists or their material of interest and urge you to check out the full albums in our catalog from which these selections were drawn.
