In the fall of 1971 Clifton Chenier and his band played a series of concerts, clubs, and dances on the West Coast. Two nights they were booked to play for the French-Creole population of the Bay Area which has remained a tight knit group since moving out here from Louisiana. The dances were held at St. Mark's Hall in Richmond, Calif. and a good time was had by everyone!

When the Clifton Chenier band plays a dance, there is no second band to play during intermissions – there simply are no intermissions! It is non-stop playing and dancing from nine to one or two in the morning and in Louisiana it often starts even earlier and goes on longer. I hope you will join in the fun next time Clifton and his band come around. For more of Clifton may I suggest his previous Arhoolie LPs: 1024, 1031, 1038, and 1052.
