I awake each morning to the sounds of children's voices. Laughing or crying, singing or shouting — and they are beautiful sounds — all beautiful sounds. They are my children, flesh of my flesh. My little girls. And it's the innocence in their eyes in which I see a reflection of my own youth. The yesterdays I've forgotten are their tomorrows yet to come.

It is to the hopes of all children that I would like to dedicate this album. After all, we are still children. Let love and understanding direct us as we direct them. Let peace and freedom be our guidelines. Let our hearts dictate and our minds obey. And let our souls be evergreen.

CHAIM TEICHER

Chaim Teicher is 26 years old. Professionally known as Kenny Karen, he has become a very successful singer of radio and T.V. commercials. He was raised in Montreal, Canada, where his father is still one of the city's leading rabbis. A self-taught musician, playing piano and organ, he studied chazanuth at the Jewish Teachers Seminary in New York City under the teaching and guidance of Cantor David Kushevitsky. Chaim resides in North Woodmere, N. Y. with his wife, Edie and his two small daughters, Sheva and Adeena.
