Sacred Steel on Tour – The Campbell Brothers live, are recordings chosen from Campbell Brothers’ performances in secular venues, church conferences and local church services. The opportunity to share our Sacred Steel music in concerts around the world and in diverse places of worship outside of our church organization has been both inspirational and a blessing. These recordings exhibit the contrast between concert and church performances and demonstrate the music’s interaction with various elements of the church services: testimonies, preaching and spontaneous inspiration.

The music on this album also showcases the various configurations the Campbell Brothers can take in their quest to reach the Zone. Some of the recordings are of Chuck with Phil and Carlton playing in services while others feature Darick at the helm. However some of the most spectacular moments are achieved on the rare occasions when both Darick and Chuck play together with Phil and Carlton in church, a powerful illustration of the uniqueness of the Campbell Brothers sound. This happens so infrequently because as a rule of thumb no church service is big enough for two sacred steel players at the same time! Regardless, the Campbell Brothers have always been willing to break the rules to reach the ZONE.

- Enjoy.

A PRAYER MEETING AT MARY’S HOUSE

This sermon is joined in progress as Bishop Campbell expounds on the power of prayer.

The Apostle Peter is sentenced to jail for his missionary activities and the saints gather at Mary, the mother of Jesus’ house to pray for Peter’s well being and release. As the saints were entreatng God their request is answered as God sends an angel to free Peter:

The angel led him on the outside and turned him loose. And Peter said, “Lord this is not a vision, but it’s true, that I’m free, I am free.” (Oh yeah.) And when he found out that he was free, he said” I know what I’m going to do. I’m going to go to the prayer meeting.”

He knew they were at Mary’s house. He went to the prayer meeting. He got to the door. He knocked on the door. The boy shut the door, but the little dancer (usher) she came to the door. She knew they were praying. They were praying for brother Peter. She looked and saw that it was Peter. She got so glad she couldn’t open the door. She ran back. (Yeah. Yeah.)

What you praying for? What are you praying about?
They were saying: Lord, Lord deliver Peter from the jail.
But the Bible said Peter walked up and said “Who you praying for? Here I am! Here I am!
I don’t know, what you need. I don’t know, what you need to be delivered from.
I don’t know, what you need. But what you need, God’s got it. He’s got everything, everything, everything, and everything..."

The Campbell Brothers were the first Sacred Steel musicians to take the music out of the church and perform extensively in clubs, concert halls, and at festivals throughout the United States as well as in Europe and Africa. Even though many of their shows are now at secular venues, they bring the spirit of the Church to every performance.

This album was produced by the Campbell Brothers and captures their music as they play it live on tour at concerts, and in church.
